30 American Seamen Killed By Blast On Cruiser St. Paul

Disaster Came While Warship Fired On Reds

Board To Investigate Explosion Which Hit Heavy Cruiser Monday

TOKYO (AP)—Thirty American seamen were killed in an explosion in a gun turret on the cruiser St. Paul off Korea Monday. The Navy, announcing that today, called it the worst naval disaster of the Korean war.

The Navy said a "gun powder fire of undetermined origin" set off the explosion in an 8 inch forward turret. A board is investigating.

The St. Paul is commanded by Capt. Roy A. Gano of Falls Church, Va. She is the flagship of Rear Adm. Earl E. Stone, commander of Cruiser Division One.

The St. Paul was firing on Communist positions on the Korean East coast. It continued firing after the blast and still is in Korean waters.

Reds Not Firing

Communist shore guns were not firing at the American warship.

The blast rocked the heavy cruiser. Most of the victims were killed the Navy said, by asphyxiation due to burning gases. There were no injuries. All victims were in the turret.

The worst previous naval disaster of this war was June 21 when the U.S. destroyer Walke hit a mine off Wonsan. Twenty-six were killed and 40 wounded.

The St. Paul was firing on a Red stronghold at Koj, about midway between the battle line and the besieged Red port of Wonsan. She had fired 86 rounds from her eight inch guns and 47 rounds from her five inch batteries when the explosion occurred at 3:55 p.m. Monday (1:55 a.m. EST).

Bombarded 24 Hours

The Navy said the St. Paul had opened up her guns on Koj for 24 hours with the destroyer Brinkley.

The cruiser has a battery of nine eight-inch guns in three turrets and a secondary battery of 12 five-inch dual purpose guns in pairs. Two of the eight inch turrets are forward and one aft.

The St. Paul's keel was laid by the Bethlehem Steel Co. at Quincy, Mass., in 1943. She entered World War II in September, 1944.

The Navy in Washington put out this account of the explosion:

"A gunpowder fire of undetermined origin aboard the U.S. heavy cruiser St. Paul has killed 30 enlisted personnel.

"There were no other injuries in the fire which occurred during combat operations April 21. Death was almost instant. Damage control parties were at the scene almost immediately.

"The bodies were removed within a few minutes after the accident. Artificial respiration teams worked two hours without success. All bodies were transferred to the hospital ship Haven at Pusan.

"The St. Paul has returned to her station. Rear Admiral E. E. Stone, commander Cruiser Division One, who is flying his flag in the St. Paul, has ordered a full scale investigation."

Talk On Delinquency Given Kiwanis Club

Louis Tobin, Columbiana County probate judge, told Kiwanians at their noon luncheon Thursday that not all delinquents come from the "wrong side of the tracks."

Judge Tobin, who has charge of Juvenile Court, said a good many of the delinquents are the result of broken homes. Others are reared in homes where "parents are either too busy to give them the proper moral training or willingly encourage delinquent behavior.

In citing cases under the court's jurisdiction, Judge Tobin stated that most of them have been handled successfully. He mentioned that as few as possible of the youthful offenders have been sent to industrial schools. A large number placed in foster homes have been doing quite well, he said, but in most cases the children have been returned to their own homes under probation.

Flood Crest Passes Kansas City Area

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City area was over the hump today in its fight against the Missouri River but flood workers still maintained a vigil along the network of dikes for possible weak spots.

The flood-choked river continued to fall after reaching its peak here yesterday afternoon just a fraction under 30.7 feet. That was a little below the predicted crest of 31 and more than 10 feet under the top of the levees.

It was a record upstream flood until the muddy surge hit Kansas City. But from here on downstream the river stages were lower than the terrible flood of July, 1951, when the Kaw (Kansas) river, which joins the Missouri here, laid waste to the rich industrial areas of the two Kansas Cities.

As the crest passed Kansas City, President Truman signed a $25,000,000 flood relief bill in Washington. A little later he allotted $250,000 of emergency funds to his home state of Missouri and $100,000 to Kansas, where four counties were affected.

Dems Increase Attacks On Eisenhower

Taft Leads Ike In Arkansas, Virginia GOP Conventions

(By The Associated Press)

The signs were clear today that Democratic attacks on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will increase in tempo as the time nears for his return to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

Secretary of Labor Tobin, in one of the first administration blasts at Eisenhower as a politician, said in Cumberland, Md., last night the Democratic party "isn't interested in a mystery man" as a candidate.

"It won't be satisfied with a smile or a good military record or a knack for kissing babies," Tobin said. He did not mention the general by name, but he left little doubt he was referring to him.

And the State Department, insisting that no politics was involved in the action, acknowledged it has quit passing out pictures of Eisenhower to Americans planning to visit Europe.

The department said in the past 18 months it has distributed thousands of pictures of Eisenhower on pamphlets explaining the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, in which he is the supreme commander. The last was issued 10 days ago, and no more will be printed.

Major political activity today centered in Illinois and Arkansas, where Republican conventions are scheduled.

Taft planned to keynote the Arkansas convention tonight. An Eisenhower leader in the state, Jeff Spreck, conceded that the Ohio senator would have the support of seven delegates already chosen in district meetings but he said the general's backers would try to capture the four delegates-at-large in the convention.

Republicans in Virginia's tenth district selected two supporters of Taft as national delegates, giving him three of the four chosen so far. The state must choose 19 more delegates.

The Texas campaign manager for Taft, Henry Swiebel of Fort Worth, said in Dallas he will throw his support to Gen. Douglas MacArthur if Taft doesn't win the nomination in July.

Taft, interviewed on the recorded Mutual radio program "Reporters' Roundup," said Eisenhower has no excuse for not speaking out on the issues and predicted if the general wins the nomination, he'll be a weak candidate — like Dewey.

House Trailer Tax Payments Now Due

County residents using house trailers as dwellings were reminded today by County Auditor Irvin J. Vorndran's office the $18-a-year tax became due April 1.

If the tax is not paid after a 30-day period a penalty of $50 is charged.

The schedule of payment follows: On or after April 1 and prior to July 1, $18; on or after July and prior to Oct. 1, $13.50; on or after Oct. 1 and prior to Jan. 1, $9, and on or after Jan. 1 and prior to April 1, $4.50.

A penalty of $5 is charged if tax is not paid within 10 days due. The tax is payable at the auditor's office in Lisbon.

Park Vandals Warned

Fred S. Smith, caretaker at Centennial Park, reports the theft of flowers from a bed at the park. He reported a woman and two girls stripped a bed of jonquills at the city park and warned that any similar action would result in prosecution of the offenders.

He said the park would be policed regularly this summer against any acts of vandalism.

Michigan Seeks Punishment For Prison Rioters

Five-Day Mutiny Ends As Leaders Return To Cellblock 15

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Officials of riot-wrecked Southern Michigan Prison moved today to tighten their control over the overflow inmate population and guard against any future mutiny in the ranks.

A convict rebellion ended yesterday only after the mutineers won their demands for 11 specific prison reforms.

However, state officials emphasized that the rioters still face prosecution for crimes committed during the rebellion.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams pointed out that as far as punishment went, the mutineers were promised only that there would be no reprisals by members of the State Department of Corrections.

And prison authorities said no reprisals were needed to restore law and order in the world's largest walled prison.

As a condition of surrender, leaders of the five-day mutiny voluntarily returned to cellblock 15—the infamous disciplinary center where they seized a total of 13 guards as hostages to pressure their demands for changes and held eight of them to the end.

Gov. Williams said the "no reprisal" promise did not in any way tie the hands of Attorney General Frank C. Millard, who has ordered an immediate investigation of the riot to determine what charges might be brought against the prisoners.

Millard said all crimes will be punished according to law. He said he will seek proof that will stand up in court of such charges as kidnapping, malicious destruction of property, rioting, inciting to riot, assault with intent to murder or do great bodily harm.

"No state official, not even the supreme court, can grant any one immunity for the commission of crime," Millard said.

Since Sunday the mutineers had roamed at large in the five-gallery brick cellblock 15. The only persons locked in individual cells were the guards—pawns in the convicts' hard bargaining with prison management.

The last eight of the 13 hostages, shaken with terror and on the verge of physical collapse, were released in a dramatic 47-minute truce ceremony.

The mutiny leaders agreed to surrender yesterday morning after the state promised to settle their grievances — ranging from alleged guard brutality to parole board abuses.

Then the mutineers, who had lived on canned foods all week, filed in orderly fashion to the mess-hall and devoured a promised steak-to-ice cream dinner.

Gross Now Willing To Testify On Police Gambling Protection

NEW YORK (AP)—Ex-bookie Harry Gross, whose silence wrecked the conspiracy trial of 18 policemen last year, has agreed to talk at a police department hearing.

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan announced yesterday that the plump bookie had decided behind prison bars to testify against 18 officers accused in the protection of Gross' 20 million dollars a year gambling ring.

They have been tried at one departmental hearing and acquitted of disciplinary charges. Monaghan said they would be re-tried on the basis of what Gross has told officials.

Some of the 18 were among 18 officers on trial in Kings County court last September when Gross, the state's key witness, suddenly refused to testify. The defendants were freed.

The court trial also involved police protection of Gross' bookmaking empire. The officers were accused of conspiring to protect it for money.

For 10 days the bookie, now serving a 12-year prison sentence for bookmaking and conspiracy, has been talking to police officials. He was moved from Rikers Island penitentiary to a Tombs prison cell near the district attorney's office to tell his story.

After listening to him, top police officials set a departmental hearing Wednesday for two captains, one lieutenant, one sergeant and 14 patrolmen.

It seemed obvious Gross was making a bid to get his prison term reduced.

But shortly before Monaghan's announcement, Kings County Judge Samuel Leibowitz said: "If he merely aids in having some crooked cops dismissed from the police department, and that's all, and then expects any consideration from me, he will find he is living in a fool's paradise."

U. N. Proposes New Truce Talk

Allies Plan To Free Only 70,000 POWs

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The U.N. command tonight proposed a full-dress meeting Sunday of Allied and Communist armistice delegations. The surprise move came six hours after the Communists broke off secret negotiations on how to exchange prisoners of war.

The U.N. gave no reason for suggesting a plenary session. The Communists called off the secret prisoner negotiations after the U.N. command announced it would return less than half the Reds captured in Korea.

The effect of the Red action was to remove the veil of secrecy from negotiations.

The prisoner talks were recessed at the request of Col. George Hickman, who said the U.N. command wanted to reassess its position in the light of developments.

The Reds ended the secrecy on prisoner talks six days after being told that only 70,000 of 159,000 prisoners of war and civilian internees wanted to return to the Communists.

Chinese Col. Tsai Cheng Wen angrily told U.N. negotiators that "has never been anything like the so-called voluntary repatriation throughout history."

"It is a direct violation of the Geneva convention from which your side has been quoting so readily and frequently."

Communist newsmen distributed a press statement on behalf of the Red armistice delegation accusing the Allies of using the secret negotiations "to deceive the world" on what was happening at the talks.

The Communists said the Allies wanted secrecy to carry out "their aid of forcibly retaining captured personnel of this side."

The end of secrecy brought the first public disclosure that the U.N. command proposes to return only 70,000 prisoners.

Tsai said "the insistence by your side on this ridiculous figure (70,000) has proved that your side is not in the least willing to abandon the unreasonable position of forced retention of tens of thousands of captured personnel of our side. Thus, these executive sessions have been rendered meaningless."

Hickman said interviews with prisoners during a two-week recess which ended April 19 showed that only 70,000 wanted to go home.

President Said Not Limited By Constitution

Government Lawyer Makes Claims At Seizure Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's chief lawyer in the steel seizure case argued today that "the President is accountable only to the country" and is not limited by the Constitution.

This contention by Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldridge brought from Federal Judge David A. Pine the comment: "I never heard that expressed before."

Baldridge had just said the Constitution "limited the legislative branch, limited the judicial branch but did not limit the executive branch."

Pine is hearing in U.S. District Court the plea of the steel industry for a court order against what it contends was President Truman's "wholly illegal and wholly unconstitutional" seizure order of April 8.

Baldridge argued that the court was without power to issue such an order.

He told Pine there is "not one single instance where the courts have enjoined executive power," and declared the Constitution "prohibits the courts from encroaching on executive authority."

Baldridge said "the courts have developed the fiction" that officers of the federal government's executive branch can be sued as individuals. The steel industry is directing its suit specifically against Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, who was instructed by Truman to carry out the seizure.

"The President is an indispensable party," Baldridge said, and added that the President himself cannot be enjoined.

Pine interjected: "Suppose the President should declare that the public interest require seizure of your home. Do you contend that the court could not restrain that act?"

Baldridge: "I would rather, your honor, not to answer. It is essential that you look at the circumstances" which gave rise to the emergency steel situation.

Pine: "Is that your conception of our government?"

The hearing began yesterday.

Pine again and again questioned

Stassen Raps Taft-Hartley

Ex-Governor Resumes Campaign In Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harold Stassen today resumes a heavy Ohio campaign schedule, designed to take presidential delegates away from Senator Robert A. Taft in his own state.

Stepping up to his attack on "Mr. Republican," Stassen claims that Taft tried to make the Taft-Hartley act "even tougher" on labor unions.

Taft attempted, he said, to do this with an "injunction and industry-wide amendments." He did not elaborate on this.

Stassen, who is competing with Taft for 47 of the state's 56 GOP delegates to the national convention, brought up the Taft-Hartley act in the opening speech of his Ohio campaign last night at Akron.

Taft has said that he thinks Stassen will wind up without one delegate but that he, Taft, is campaigning because "we can't take any chances."

Stassen put his criticism of the Taft-Hartley act in the form of a question, along with five other "important" questions which he said Taft had failed to answer.

The ex-Minnesota governor, who addresses a mock convention at Case Institute of Technology today, listed these other questions for Taft:

Why did you oppose and vote against the Atlantic Pact?

Why did you advocate a reduction in the American defense forces in an address to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce on April 30 even after the Korean war had begun?

BALL OF FIRE (lower) mushrooms into a lollipop-shaped cloud 3,000 feet high in AEC's atomic test on the proving ground in Nevada. The "device" which caused the blast was dropped from a high flying bomber, the second nuclear detonation in the current series.

Why did you vote for federal aid to schools, which means "ultimate federal control?"

Why did you oppose appropriations for flood control?

"I respectfully submit," said Stassen, "that the people of Ohio are entitled to answers from Senator Taft on these six questions."

He also said that he had noticed that Taft's campaign committee had listed 21 questions for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to answer. He said he thought it only fair that questions be put to Taft, too.

Turning to his own part in this campaign, Stassen said:

"What happens to me is of very little importance. But what happens to the policies of our Republican party and of our country is of very great importance."

Write-In Primary Votes Won't Count

COLUMBUS (AP)—Attorney General C. William O'Neill said today Ohio law bans a count of write-in votes for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president in the May 6 primary election.

It is up to election officials to decide whether write-in votes deface an entire ballot, O'Neill added in a letter to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Brown asked whether election boards should count write-ins such as Eisenhower, "Ike" and the like. He also asked about write-in votes for delegates and alternates to the presidential nominating conventions, and whether they deface ballots.

O'Neill pointed out convention ed in the primary. He quoted a state statute which says "no vote shall be counted for any persons whose name has been written in on said ballot for any such offices."

O'Neill added that there might well be cases in which write-in votes deface a ballot. He said Ohio law does not define defaced ballot. That leaves the decision on defacement up to election officials.

Superintendent T. V. Utterback of Fairfield School, chairman of the Rotary committee on vocational guidance, will be in charge of the conference, assisted by members of the other school faculties.

The conference is for seniors of the four high schools and Columbiana and Fairfield freshmen in addition. Personnel Director Curle of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. will present a survey of jobs available in the Youngstown and Columbiana area; Mrs. Helen McWilliams of Strouss-Hirschberg, Youngstown, will talk on the practical side of getting and keeping jobs, and Dr. Fred J. Mighty Particular Mice

One of the second thoughts occurring to a great many Americans about the double play which wiped out the Newbold Morris graft investigation is this:

If the purpose of the questionnaires which Morris wanted to send to all officials who might be tempted to turn crooked was to bait the trap with cheese, he ran into some mighty particular mice.

Virtually the same information is or can be obtained from the lowliest taxpayer by the Bureau of Internal Revenue in the process of collecting income taxes.

No one in Washington gets squeamish about asking for intimate financial details from taxpayers. The truth is these details are asked for on the government's assumption that the least of its taxpayers are potential crooks.

But when Mr. Morris tried to tempt some of the king-size mice in government with the same kind of cheese, they turned skittish. In fact, they turned on Mr. Morris and threw him out.

All this was accomplished by a fine show of righteous indignation and a lot of palaver about rights of privacy and so on. Apparently, whatever rights of privacy still exist in the United States are exclusive.

They belong to certain employees in the upper levels of the sprawling bureaucracy of mice which have been nibbling at public wealth and take a dim view of traps baited with ordinary cheese.

Men In Search Of A Party

W. Averell Harriman's mild presidential boom is more interesting to political scientists at the moment than to organization Democrats.

While they are looking for someone who can lead their party, preferably to victory in November, Mr. Harriman is in the curious position of looking for a party he can lead. The question raised by his avowal of willingness to be a candidate is whether or not he can create a desire for his characteristics.

Since this seems, also, to be the problem of Estes Kefauver, it may have to be recognized as the problem of the Democratic party this year. And since it is becoming more plainly evident as time goes on that Republicans have similarly strong opinions against their avowed candidates, it may have to be recognized as the problem of party politics in 1952.

It is impossible to draw up specifications for candidates which would be generally acceptable to most of the members of either party. The North-South antagonism in the Democratic party and the East-West antagonism in the Republican party is running so deep it threatens at times to make the election next November an anti-climax to the showdown in the nominating conventions.

Prison Reform, The Hard Way

The terms of settlement drawn up by mutual inmates of Southern Michigan prison and accepted by state authorities look like a model program of prison reform.

Their publication is notice to many citizens on the outside that prison inmates still possess and cherish certain rights which even incarceration cannot take away from them.

While it is generally assumed, sometimes through ignorance, that no prison is run in this age by the penal code of a century ago, the demands of the Southern Michigan prisoners raise a doubt.

Even human beings locked up from their wrong-doing cannot be handled by a civilian society as if they had ceased to need certain elemental securities and decencies. Progressive administrators of penal systems long have known that smoldering resentment against unfairness and inhuman treatment is the most dangerous and most costly problem which can exist inside a large penitentiary.

Hard as it is to condone a prison riot anywhere, the net result of the recent riots in New Jersey and Michigan may be more prison reform than could be brought about by a dozen pious resolutions of good intentions.

Living With A-Bombs

From the beginning of the A-bomb era, which began in 1945, the puzzle of confining fear of atomic explosions within reasonable limits has baffled military authorities.

While it was to their advantage to inspire fear on the one hand, it was obvious from the time of the first explosions at Hiroshima and Nagasaki that the use of so dreaded a weapon by an enemy might demoralize their own forces.

The A-bomb explosion in Nevada this week was the most overt attempt so far to overcome this fear. The troops who withstood the blast inside the danger area demonstrated the basic means of survival—protection in a trench.

This is essentially the same thing which has been stressed in all civil defense information—that a position beneath the surface of the ground provides protection from both the blast and the rays of an atomic explosion.

For what comfort it provides, the theory has now been demonstrated to be a fact.

Impeachment

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Action Might Affect Presidents In Future

America is face to face with the gravest constitutional crisis in its entire history.

The question is whether constitutional government—that is, government by law instead of by the whim of a President—shall survive. The issue really is whether the President can do as he pleases and go unchecked.

President Truman has committed acts that present a "case for impeachment" under the Constitution, which provides for such action by a majority vote of the House of Representatives. He has seized private property "without due process of law." Whether he should or should not be removed is a question that the Constitution says shall be determined, after a trial, by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

TO SAY THAT the President shall not be indicted by the House of Representatives, because there is some doubt whether the case would result in removal, is tantamount to saying that nobody shall be accused hereafter by a grand jury because in the subsequent trial he or she might possibly be acquitted. That has not been the course of justice heretofore in America in civil cases either.

Some administration supporters are saying that the steel case is not a matter for impeachment but for decision eventually by the Supreme Court of the United States in a case brought in the customary way. But those who make that statement are overlooking the fact that the President of the United States apparently cannot be restrained by a court order against committing acts for which he claims authority under "inherent powers."

If there were a specific law involved and he had done something under a given statute whose words could be reviewed by a court to determine whether the authority of that law had been exceeded, it would be a different matter. For the agent of the President, the secretary of commerce, could then be restrained by a court injunction. But an act committed by the executive under so-called "inherent powers" is something different, and it might be years before a court case could be devised that would cover the explicit points involved.

SINCE THE President claims "inherent powers" and there is no way of effectively serving him personally with a court order, there is no choice left to Congress but to impeach him and try the case now with the Senate acting as a court.

Even this very week the President has again flouted the authority of Congress by refusing to allow his cabinet officers and the heads of executive agencies to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which merely has sought to study academically the power of seizure. When a President does not even cooperate in the making of a study of his powers by the legislative branch and declines even to defend his legal reasoning or to explain it, he emphasizes how far America has drifted toward a concept of the presidency which plainly ignores the coordinate status of the Congress as an integral part of the American constitutional system of checks and balances.

The arguments against applying the impeachment process are not only a revelation of the lengths to which executive usurpation has already gone in America, but they disclose also the supineness of the legislative branch itself and the tendency to acquiesce in the "king can do no wrong" philosophy. Even inside the Republican party councils there is timidity.

IT IS ESPECIALLY significant that so many members of the Democratic party, which historically has fought against centralization of government in Washington and particularly against an enlargement of the powers of the President, now should be passive and acquiesce in the assumption by Mr. Truman of the right to seize private property without a law.

Even in his letter to Congress this week, Mr. Truman writes as if he doesn't understand the constitutional issues involved. He says that to have invoked the Taft-Hartley Act would not have been fair to the CIO. But is that the standard of measurement in deciding what status to use or what unauthorized powers to invoke? Isn't the criterion rather what is fair to everybody, including the owners of private property in America?

There need be nothing personal or partisan in the impeachment process or in bringing the case to trial. It would be refreshing, indeed, and have a salutary effect on the course of future Presidents, if they became acquainted with the fact that there still is such a thing as impeachment—that there is a check against any assumption of power by the President.

What's Ba-a-ad About It?

By TRUMAN TWILL

By way of winding up a saga of life in RFD that began last November, this is to report that the lambing season at the Twillery has come to a bouncing, bleating conclusion.

The rate of increase hit 140 per cent this year, which we have been given to understand is as high as a sheepman ever expects to get. There was only one casualty, a prematurely born lamb, whose mother should not have been having lambs in the first place because she was technically a lamb herself.

Going back to that word "sheepman," we would like to say a few words in behalf of a much-abused class of husbandrymen.

In general, city hicks who buy property in RFD to take a crack at natural living favor cattle culture. This is because many of them have made the purchase with the view to building up an equity in country real estate with tax-deductible money. There is no faster way to feed de-ducts than cattle.

At the other end of the economic scale, refugees from the paralyzing frustrations of urban routine take up chicken culture. This is the easiest and quickest basis on which to set up shop, because it requires a minimum outlay to begin with.

Others turn to the pig, and they can have him. Some try turkeys, some ducks, a few of the better-insulated characters go for horses, and some get into such oddities as pheasants.

Sheep constitute a middle course. They are a safe bet. They cost little to begin with, require minimum care, do not eat their owners into an early deficit and, as pointed out previously, can be counted on to more than double their numbers in a lucky year.

In addition, they can be kept feasibly in widely variable numbers—anywhere from two to a couple of hundred, depending on the amount of marginal grazing land available. And contrary to the canard foisted on posterity by the rampaging cattlemen of the west in the free-grazing days, they do not spoil the land for anything but cattle. They are man's prime asset in the one-sided fight to conserve the soil, because they will improve bad land if given a fighting chance. Besides, there is the wool crop, even though it's being hurt grievously by a foreign-trade-happy government and the synthetic-fabric industry.

Here is an avocational sheepman fed up with slurs and lies circulated by other city hicks who have turned to cattle culture, pig culture and poultry culture to relieve their inhibitions about natural living.

They can have their herds of lowing kine, their grunting pigs and their cackling fowl. And if they are gentlemen, as they like to think they are, they will look kindly upon our little flock of woolies, forgetting the ancient feuds of the plains.

We claim one thing few of them can claim after setting up rural projects. We never have filed a tax deduction on account of loss and have no hope of listing a taxable surplus. We are breaking even. And when they can point to a 140 per cent increase, except for poultry we'll be glad to congratulate them, as we now have a right to expect to be congratulated. No cigars, please. Just bales of hay.

Q—Does marriage to a U. S. male automatically make an alien woman a U. S. citizen?

A—Under the Cable Act of 1922, an alien woman will not automatically become an American citizen through marriage to a native-born or naturalized American. She may become a citizen only by following the steps provided for in the naturalization laws.

"Keeps Looking Better and Better for Me"

The Campaign And Foreign Policy

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The center of the debate in the Presidential campaign is the foreign policy. The ambition of the internationalists is so to arrange the affairs of both parties that a

George E. Sokolsky
This group consists of two principal factors, namely, Wall Street banking houses with vast international connections and their business affiliates; and a number of newspaper and magazine publishers who were associated with the Wendell Willkie campaign in 1940.

It would seem that the general objective of this political operation is to have a candidate who will support the policy that has been pursued by this country since 1938, when Roosevelt shifted from apparent neutrality to active partisanship. The tone of the current attitude was best expressed by Averell Harriman on an "America's Town Meeting" discussion when he said:

"Just a minute. We've made lots of mistakes and I'm sure you've made lots of mistakes. But what we're talking about is what we learned from the mistakes, and where we're going for the future . . ."

"Let's talk about the future, not about the past . . ."

In a word, these people want no examination of their costly errors. Their attitude is that no matter what a mistake costs in wealth and human life, no one is responsible for it; the citizen who pays in sons and taxes must be silent. Mr. Harriman has been present at most of the conferences under both Roosevelt and Truman which brought upon us our misfortunes, but he does not feel responsible. He got experience.

WHAT WE really need to do is to resolve that every man associated with the errors which began at Teheran should be eliminated from public life. The curious thing about it is that the Europeans hardly take seriously the consequences of our errors. The following paragraph from the British "The Contemporary Review" is typical of the European reaction to our problems:

"It is understandable that the United States should feel in a more militant and crusading mood towards Communism than the rest of the Anglo-Saxon world and Europe. The latter is more disposed to fight Communism by other methods than open war if this is at all possible. No doubt this is still the view of the majority in the United States. But the United States is still a country where New England preachers can get up moral crusades, where the spirit of the early Mayflower settlers and of the Scottish Covenanters can exercise a powerful influence on public opinion."

WE HAVE suffered at least

107,000 casualties and M. Phillips Price, in this important publication, speaks of our Messianic ideals in relation to Communism! Mr. Harriman would have us believe that not one cent may be cut from the proposed $7,900,000,000 for foreign aid, no matter what our internal situation; his mind seems to run to an international WPA, which is not unnatural since he entered politics under the tutelage of Harry Hopkins.

Mr. Price can recognize opposition to the foreign policy of the Administration as "sordid"—as . . . the desire to stop the leftist trend of American politics under the Democrats. To slow down social insurance schemes, the beginnings of a welfare state and state interference in the national economy, these Republicans are quite ready to use all methods including the reversal of the United States' foreign policy. They see that the defense of Europe against Russia and the methods of fighting Communism by economic aid to Europe and the backward parts of Asia and Africa are likely to mean higher taxes for years to come . . .

Of course, if an internationalist is nominated by the Republicans, this process will be reversed. The Republicans will then be supporters of the Truman-Marshall-Acheson program. They might as well nominate Averell Harriman, and gulp down the entire bitter pill.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Turns out the major surprise in the New York primaries was the number of citizens surprised to find the bars were closed.

One fellow after having rattled the door knobs at six places said, "Don't tell me he has seized the saloons, too!"

The primary results were about as expected and one additional result was that hundreds of men were home early for dinner, dry and dusty.

One woman said, "I always plan 7 o'clock dinner for 9 o'clock and here you walk in at six expecting to eat right on time at 8."

Her husband snarled, "Blame it on the politicians."

Anyway, Ike got the primary vote and Harriman got his campaign hat blocked.

Speeding From Land

Sometimes it seems that in our modern mania for speed we're hurtling directly away from a thing that can mean most to us—the land itself.

Super-highways and 90-mile-an-hour trains whisk us about so fast we often can't even see where we're going. Planes rocket us along above the clouds and often out of sight of the earth. Subways shoot us through underground night.

Maybe we didn't set any speed records in the old slow days. But speed records are flimsy, perishable stuff anyway, and there's not much market for them. There was nothing like an overland trek in a Model T to get the look and the feel and the smell of the land.

Blue Plate

By HAL BOYLE

This Lunch Keeps America United

NEW YORK

What keeps us Americans together? Some say it is the unity of our ancestors—the flaming Spirit of 1776.

I say that nothing has brought us together more often—nothing have we shared so many times—as the blue plate luncheon.

If there is anything that has knit America together, joined one citizen to another, it is the blue plate luncheon.

The harder America seeks out the blue plate luncheon. If he doesn't see it, he asks for it. If it isn't there today he goes to another place tomorrow.

Me? I'm different. I don't look for a blue plate luncheon. It looks for me. I'll lay you five-to-one you can lay a blue plate luncheon anywhere between Brooklyn and Buffalo and anytime between 10 a.m. and 3:45 p.m.—and it will find me out.

SOMEHOW, SOMEWHERE, I will end up sitting before it and wishing I had the courage of a St. Louis friend of mine who once publicly criticized his breakfast by bending down and placing his eyeballs against two underdone soft-fried eggs and breaking into tears.

I don't want to be a snob about the blue plate luncheon. Please don't get the idea I think I'm too good for it. It is just too much for me.

I no longer can eat it all. I take it to the hotel I am staying at and use it instead of soap for a shower. I rub it on my head as a shampoo. I still have enough left to throw at barking dogs. And, believe me, this is all done after I have eaten all of it I can.

Sometimes I even am left with a residue I put in an envelope and mail away to friends. (By the time they mail it back, I have gone on to another town.)

THIS BLUE PLATE luncheon—the All-America culinary nightmare—has ambushed me in Florida. It has bushwhacked me in California. It has crept up on my table in Oklahoma. You can't hide from it in Iowa. It will follow you around any restaurant in South Dakota. In Alabama it will bounce in your lap. Kansas has never been able to outlaw it. In Pennsylvania it is even sometimes mistaken for food.

Occasionally, I have tried to analyze the blue plate luncheon, but that is a problem beyond the grasp of one who only knows high school chemistry.

So far as I have been able to find out it is a piece of sodden protein, engulfed in gravy from which two mounds arise, one bearing a distant cousinship to potato, the other having a vague resemblance to another vegetable, living or dead.

BUT THE ENTIRE sodden mass is a candidate for psychoanalysis—not enjoyment.

Maybe that holds the answer. For years I have been a fugitive from the blue plate luncheon. I suspect that perhaps 100,000,000 other Americans—at least—are in the same predicament.

Some day I am going to buy a blue plate luncheon, rush it to the nearest psychiatrist, and lie down with it on his couch—and ask him what it is all about.

Wouldn't you, too, like to solve the mystery of the average blue plate luncheon? It certainly requires a medical solution. Is it psychosomatic? (AP Newsfeature)

Fifth Of Ohio Moves Clocks Ahead Sunday

COLUMBUS (AP)—Only about one-fifth of Ohio will switch to Daylight Saving time Sunday.

The area affected includes all or parts of 18 counties in the northeastern and eastern sections of the state, an Associated Press survey shows.

* Many small towns have not yet decided whether to use fast or slow time. Some will vote on the subject in the May 6 primary.

The change involves advancing the clock one hour—at 2 a.m. Sunday in most cases. The fast time will continue until Sept. 28.

Ohio has no state law governing the time change, so most municipalities decide it by ordinance.

Organized labor and industry generally favor Daylight Saving time. City dwellers like the extra daylight for golf and other recreation.

Farmers complain fast time means wasting an hour in the morning. They don't like to change dawn-to-dusk schedules of feeding, milking and tending crops.

Cleveland and all of Cuyahoga County switch to daylight saving time annually. So do Youngstown and Akron. But cities like Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton and Canton are sticking to slow time.

All or sections of these counties will make the change:

Richland, Ashland, Lorain, Medina, Cuyahoga, Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Erie, Summit, Portage, Trumbull, Mahoning, Stark, Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont and Tuscarawas.

East Goshen

The Semper Fidelis Sunday School Class of the East Goshen Church will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Malmbsberry Friday evening.

Three Salem Women Elected To District Baptist Group

Three Salem women and a Canfield woman were named officers of the Baptist Women's Missionary Association of the Wooster district Wednesday at the all-day associational meeting in the Salem Baptist Church.

Mrs. Frank Brudery is home missions vice president, Mrs. R. B. Calkins is spiritual life director and Mrs. George Talbot is white cross director. Mrs. H. P. Brewer of Canfield was reinstalled as secretary.

Re-elected associational president is Mrs. R. V. Jones of Massillon. Mrs. Edwin Turner of Youngstown, past Trumbull associational president and installing officer, used "Praying Hands" as her installation theme. She also was narrator for the showing of colored slides of the 1951 Women's House Party at Denison University. Salem women attended the house party.

Including the Salem women, more than 100 women were present from churches in Wooster, Canton, Locust Grove, Newman, Massillon and Alliance. Lunch was served by Mrs. Louis Raymond and her committee. Daffodils, forsythia and yellow candles, arranged in milk glass, made the tables attractive.

Mrs. Eula Patterson of the Campbell Christian Center explained the operation of the center and the work they accomplish. Mrs. Patterson is a graduate of the Baptist Missionary Training School in Chicago.

Committee chairmen gave their reports. Announcement was made that the Canton First Baptist Church and the Alliance Church won the spiritual life poster contest depicting "time, talent and treasure."

Miss Treva Bush of Salem sang "Suffer the Little Children," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Talbot. "Behold the Stars" was the associational year's theme used by Mrs. T. H. Alexander for her worship theme.

Guests were Rev. and Mrs. Zinn, who will come to Locust Grove Baptist Church in July as ministers, and Rev. R. J. Hunter, local pastor. The next Wooster associational meeting will be a picnic affair the last week in June.

Wood tones are important when planning the color to go into a room. Think of your furniture, your floors and your woodwork, and of how they will blend or contrast with the color of the walls.

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stopped or gave amazing relief of such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases... even on the very first and worst day of the period! Yes! Medical evidence proves Lydia Pinkham's modern in action. It exerts a remarkably calming effect on the uterus—without the use of pain-deadening drugs!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you? Take Lydia Pinkham's! See if you don't get the same relief from cramps and weakness... feel better both before and during your period! Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets, with added iron! Lydia Pinkham's is wonderful for "hot flashes" and other functional distress of the "change of life," too!

Bad Weather Delays Kefauver

Senator's Wife Fills
Speaking Engagements

STUEBENVILLE —Bad weather lopped a whole day off the Ohio campaign of the Tennessee senator who stumps in a coonskin cap and does most of his traveling by plane.

As a result his pretty wife, Nancy Kefauver, did the speaking chores yesterday before the Women's Democratic Club of Belmont County and at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner here.

Hubby Estes, after his plane was unable to land in the area, turned back and spent the night in Richmond, Va. He is due to start a round of appearances in northern and eastern Ohio today at Dover. Kefauver is renewing his drive to win 33 of the state's 54 Democratic delegates to the national convention. His opponent is ex-Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, former stand-in for President Truman and now an uncommitted representative of the regular state organization.

About 1,000 Democrats showed up at the Jefferson-Jackson Day rally last night in the CIO hall and heard Mrs. Kefauver express regrets for her husband's failure to show up.

Another Democrat, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, told the group why Republican Robert A. Taft beat him in the last senatorial race.

"The people in Ohio voted for Taft because they wanted to keep me as auditor," Ferguson explained.

Judge Lectures Police On Improving Manners

AKRON (AP)—Not long ago a traffic policeman bawled out a woman motorist and ordered her to "get going, lady, get going!"

Today the woman's husband, Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker, finishes up a two-day lecture on manners for every member of the police force.

The judge, indicating that the younger policemen were the sassiest, dressed down the first bunch face to face yesterday with these words:

"You fellows are overawed by your own importance. You are so tough that you go around making faces at yourselves. You are not liked."

He ordered them to wipe the scowls from their faces and go out and win friends. . . . "Every time you have contact with a citizen you either make a friend or an enemy; and if you have good sense, you will start making friends."

FOR SCHOOL SAFETY—These new black and yellow caution markers above are being tried out on Route 33, near Columbus, Ohio, in a new drive for traffic safety near schools. If drivers react quicker to one sign, the State Highway Department may adopt it throughout the state. Department thinks drivers are too accustomed to present school signs and are apt to be careless.

The directors re-elected all officers including W. H. Sammis, president.

The board declared a quarterly dividend of $1.14 per share on the 4.56 per cent preferred stock payable June 2, to stockholders of record May 15. This is the first dividend on this series of preferred stock since its issuance in March, 1952.

Idle Brownies Cling To First Place

Red Sox Beat Yanks To Move Half Game Ahead Of St. Louis

NEW YORK (AP)—Those beautiful Browns are not the only "amazing" team in the American League. How about those upstart Boston Red Sox?

Lou Boudreau's pink-cheeked bobby sox have been knocking the stuffings out of the opposition right from the start, but they have been overshadowed by the tremendous surge of the once-lowly St. Louis Browns.

It took a Brownie postponement to cast the spotlight on the comeback of once-powerful Boston. The youth-infested Red Sox hurled a "move over" challenge at the Browns yesterday by whipping the world champion New York Yankees, 3-2, to sweep their two-game series.

It took the Red Sox 11 innings to do it but in the end they had their third consecutive victory stored away to boost their season record to nine triumphs and only two losses. That actually put them a half game in front of the Browns. St. Louis, however, remained in first place percentage-wise. The Browns showed a 7-1 .875 mark to Boston's 9-2 .818.

In the day's only other activity, the Boston Braves overcame a 3-0 deficit with three tallies in the eighth and three more in the 10th to defeat the New York Giants, 6-3, at the Polo grounds.

Rain and cold weather cancelled all other games in the major leagues.

Once again, it was the Red Sox kiddie corps that paved the way for Boston's victory. Two successive bases on balls by relief pitcher Bob Kuzava provided the winning run but it was a single by freshman Sammy White that set up the tally.

The youthful catcher, who had homered for Boston's first run in the fifth, advanced to second on Dom DiMaggio's one-bagger and moved all the way around when Kuzava walked Jimmy Piersall and Billy Goodman.

Rookie pitcher Ivan Delock, who relieved starter Maurice McDermott in the 11th, earned his first major league victory with only one inning of work. The Yankees loaded the bases on him with only one out in the 11th, but couldn't get a man across. Delock got Hank Bauer to fly short to DiMaggio in center and then struck out Mickey Mantle.

A bases-loaded double by rookie Ed Mathews in the 10th inning broke up a 3-3 tie and enabled the Braves to snap a three-game losing streak. Lew Burdette, who relieved starter Warren Spahn in the seventh, was credited with his second victory. Dave Koslo was the loser.

Starter Max Lanier of the Giants had a shutout until the eighth when Earl Torgeson homered with two out. A single by Sid Gordon, a walk to Will Marshall, a wild pitch and Walker Cooper's single tied the score at 3-3 and brought in Koslo.

Manager Leo Durocher had to watch the tournament from the clubhouse, having been ejected by plate umpire Art Gore in the sixth inning. Durocher got the heave for squawking about Spahn "fast pitching" Willie Mays in the fifth. As Leo walked from the third-base coaching box to the dugout, he apparently said something complimentary and up went Gore's thumb.

Lopez Worries About Tribe's Shaky Fielding

CLEVELAND—Southpaws don't worry Indian Manager Al Lopez. He's more concerned over his club's shaky fielding.

"I can't understand it," said Al. "We weren't making many errors in the exhibition games, then as soon as the season starts we make 'em."

This is what Al is talking about: In nine games, the Indians' infield has committed 10 errors—Al Rosen, four, Ray Boone, three, and Bob Avila, three.

HOWEVER AL MAY feel about enemy left-handed pitchers, he can count on more of the same this week. Today, it's White Sox hurler Billy Pierce, pitching out of rotation, just because he throws from the port side.

Tomorrow, at Detroit, look for lefty Ted Gray. On Sunday, Hal Newhouse, left-handed of course, is a possible starter, also at Detroit. Then the Indians go to Philadelphia, and the A's are loaded with lefties.

It seemed probable that two—possibly all three—of Cleveland's cripples would get back into the lineup for today's game against the White Sox.

THAT WOULD BE Jim Hegan (aching elbow), and Bob Avila (a bruised left thigh), and maybe Larry Doby (charley horse in leg). "We'll know about Doby today," said Al. "If his leg feels all right he'll play. If not, he won't. There's no use rushing him."

All three of these men missed all, or most of the St. Louis series. Lopez, in spite of Cleveland's double loss to St. Louis, thinks the Browns won't be so tough later in the season.

The Indians also will have Mickey Harris on tap today. He was purchased from the Washington Nats a few days ago as a left-handed relief pitcher.

Lisbon Baseballers To Open Home Season

The Lisbon High School baseball team will open its home season Monday at 4 p.m. at the stadium diamond, facing East Liverpool.

Coach Bud Bucher's base by defeating Sebring, 7-1, with Jim Rutecki twirling a four-hitter for the Blue Devils.

Other games scheduled are: Minerva, May 6, there; Minerva, May 20, here; and East Palestine, May 23, there.

Hurls No-Hit Ball 12 Innings, Loses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Elmer Singleton, San Francisco Seals' right-hander, pitched no-hit, no-run ball for 12 innings last night. Then—bang—three Sacramento singles in the 13th turned glory into a 1-0 defeat.

For six innings of the Pacific Coast league game the 31-year-old Singleton was flawless. It was three up and three down.

He walked two men in the seventh and one in the 10th. Meanwhile Sacramento's Jess Flores, once with the Philadelphia Athletics, was turning back the Seals, although a bit pressed at times.

In the Sacramento 13th, the first man up, first baseman Bill Glynn, drove the Seal centerfielder clear to the fence to pull down his drive.

The fans hadn't quit sighing when second sacker Eddie Bockman singled—the first hit off Singleton. Left fielder Al White and Johnny Ostrowski followed with singles and Bockman scored.

1953 SWBA Tourney Slated At Columbiana

Columbiana was selected as the 1953 site for the Salem Women's Bowling Association annual city tournament when the association met recently to award medals and prize money to the winners of this year's bowling classic held at Washingtonville.

An election of officers was held at the meeting although the offices of president and secretary were not yet expired. Helen Caldwell of Salem was elected vice-president of the organization; Mildred Kline of Salem was named treasurer for a three-year period and Mabel Hofmaster of East Palestine will serve as sergeant-at-arms. President Min Spear of Washingtonville and Vivienne Witt of Salem, secretary, remain at their posts.

The association will hold its annual spring picnic at Firestone Park in Columbiana June 11.

The 46-year-old club owner will appear before Federal Judge Roy W. Harper.

In a statement, Saigh said he felt certain he would be vindicated. He is charged with evading taxes from 1946 through 1949.

Fishing Paradise Located in Bahamas

By AL McCLANE

Walker Cay in the Bahamas is one of the world's best fishing spots. Like any other arena of this caliber, it has much to recommend it besides the fish.

My guide took me out in a glass bottomed boat one day, and as my lure dropped through the water, he told me what kind of fish the bait was passing, how big it was, and whether I should let the lure sink further for a more desirable species.

You could look down and see horse-eye jack, yellowtail, gray snapper, mutton, and mangrove snapper, amberjack, grouper and a string of barracuda.

As the boat moved on, we passed doctor fish, trigger fish, sharks, rays, and porcupine fish. It was like fishing in a huge aquarium—the water diamond-clear and deceptively deep.

WALKER CAY is isolated, yet it's easy to reach. A 45-minute plane ride from West Palm Beach puts you atop a 90-acre coral island.

There's no such thing as pesky insects, because the island is high for the Bahamas, with an elevation of about 80 feet. The rates on the other hand, are comparatively low. Dishes like Bahamian fish pie, conch fritters, and crawfish salad are part of a culinary education.

Aside from the reef fishing, there's top draw big-game fishing, and plenty of bonefish on the flats. If you stay long enough, you'll get soaked in pirate treasure and malachology (shell collecting), which we learned under the tutelage of a 13-year-old native boy who had more savvy than a Harvard Ph.D.

The peculiar coral formations and lack of fishing pressure have made this area a fantastic fishing spot. I spent my time standing in the bow of an inboard casting my spinning lure ahead of the boat.

THE OBJECT is to get the lure ahead of the boat, letting it sink, and by the time the boat is over the bait, you can reel straight up and see the fun. My quota in a half hour was six yellowtail snapper (one of the best eating fish in the ocean), two horse-eye jacks, and a big old mutton snapper.

Then I hooked a yellowtail of about three pounds, and suddenly a giant grouper detached himself from the coral and lazily cruised up to swallow my fish.

For 20 minutes I worked the rod frantically, trying to loosen the yellowtail from the grouper, or the grouper from the bottom. The grouper must have decided that my fish wasn't worth the effort, and went off to get one of his own.

These big grouper, incidentally, will take any kind of an artificial lure, and even though most of them are far too heavy to handle, it's fun to think about.

Goshen Nine Wins

Goshen-Union High School's baseball team handed North Lima a 6-3 beating Tuesday behind the four-hit hurling of Lee McCluggage, who fanned 10 batters while only walking two. Galen Beck and James Stoffer each got two of Goshen's nine hits. Pitcher Morey of North Lima struck out six and walked three.

83 OUT OF 100

Today 83 out of 100 families in Ohio Bell territory have telephones. A dozen years ago, 46 out of 100 was an all-time high. More and more families know the pleasure, convenience and comfort of the telephone. From the call to let Grandma hear Baby coo to the call bringing the doctor during Baby's first frightening illness, the telephone is a friend to every member of the family.

EVERY OTHER MINUTE

Every other working minute of 1951, some Ohio Bell customer's telephone service was "up-graded" ... from four-party to two-party; from two-party to individual line. Every day, we're providing more and better service for more people. But still more families and businesses want new service, and more of our present customers want other types of service. We're working to meet every demand as soon as possible.

THE OHIO BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

MAXIMUM—Chester Maxson, right, stands proudly beside his record 48 1/2-pound blue marlin taken off Andros Island in the Bahamas after a 22-minute struggle. It tops the former record for 50-pound test-of-line class by 8 1/2 pounds. Bud Fairbank, a fellow fisherman, witnessed the battle.

Big Ten Baseball Season Begins Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Every Big Ten team will be in action today as the 1952 pennant race, increased from 12 to 15 games this season, gets started.

Defending champion Ohio State makes its conference debut against strong Michigan State at East Lansing. Ohio State has a rebuilt infield and outfield but a strong mound corps that includes freshman Paul Ebert, star basketball center.

Other games today send Northwestern to Indiana, Illinois to Michigan, Wisconsin to Purdue and Iowa to Minnesota.

A round of five doubleheaders is on tap for tomorrow as Northwestern goes to Purdue, Illinois to Michigan State, Ohio State to Michigan, Wisconsin to Indiana and Iowa continuing at Minnesota.

Ford Settles Patent
Infringement Suit

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has settled a patent-infringement suit for about $300,000, it was announced today.

Ford paid this amount out of court on a suit claiming it had infringed on the Steckel Steel-Rolling patent of the old Cold Metal Process Co. of Youngstown, said John A. Stansbury.

Stansbury, who is a trustee of the Leon Beeghly fund, also announced that the Thompson Wire Co. of Boston had settled a similar patent infringement suit for approximately $100,000.

Appeals Court Upholds
Rep. Brehm Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Conviction of Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) on charges of unlawfully taking campaign contributions from an employee was upheld by the U. S. Court of Appeals yesterday.

Brehm was fined $5,000 and given a suspended five-to-15 month jail sentence. Payment of the fine was held up pending a decision on the appeal.

Seizure

the chief government lawyer's assertion that President Truman had ample authority under the Constitution for his April 9 seizure order. The jurist appeared totally unconvinced by the answers he got.

Finally, showing signs of impatience, he told Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldridge to search the record for a single case in which a federal court had found a presidential seizure order legal which had not been issued under a specific law passed by Congress.

Baldridge, chief government attorney in the case, asked for a week's delay to give him more time to prepare his arguments. But Pine denied the request, saying the case "requires almost immediate action. The parties are entitled to very prompt action."

Baldridge said that the President has unlimited powers in time of declared emergency and that the courts have no authority to review his executive orders, such as the steel seizure.

Pine expressed surprise, noting that the President himself declared the emergency. He told Baldridge that under his theory the government could seize him, Baldridge, and order him executed, and that he would have no recourse to the courts.

"I'll have to think that over," Baldridge replied. Along with their request for a temporary injunction, all but one of the six companies making the bid have asked Pine to go another step and rule the seizure itself illegal.

HEARING EXTENDED

Russell E. Bagley, 29, of 458 S. Ellsworth Ave., arrested Tuesday night and charged by police with breaking and entering the Soho Service Station on N. Lincoln Ave., asked for an extension of his hearing until April 30 when he appeared before Mayor Harry M. Vincent Thursday afternoon.

Food Ceiling Prices
To Be Posted Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Restaurants, boarding houses, taverns, hotels and hot dog stands must post publicly today their ceiling prices for food and drinks.

The Office of Price Stabilization said the price posting order affects more than a half million establishments serving 70 million meals a day and doing more than 12 billion dollars of business a year.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said that through the posting of prices their customers now will be able to see the maximum prices they should pay.

The posters also will be a protection for restaurants against possible unfair accusations concerning prices they charge, he said. The ceilings which restaurants, taverns and the like must post are the highest prices they charged during the week of last Feb. 3-9.
